- Prevent and treat substance abuse
- Assure the safety of our food supply
- Plan quality health care for our elders
- Manage the delivery of health services
- Contain the spread of infectious diseases
- Deliver smoking cessation programs

Among the many position titles for public health professionals are: epidemiologist, health administrator, health educator, health inspector, and geriatric care manager. Working behind the scenes everywhere in health care, public health professionals make the lives of countless individuals healthier and safer.

In Public Health, the program offers four different emphases: general public health, health administration, environment and health, and health promotion. There is also a degree completion option* for applied health professionals. Among the hundreds of different position titles for public health professionals are epidemiologist, sanitarian, health educator, and geriatric care manager. Because of the complexity of the problems public health professionals work to solve, students considering a career in public health need to have a background in the biological, mathematical and social sciences.
